JANSSEN COSMETICS is the first German company to launch care products combining the best from the fields of pharmacy and cosmetics onto the market. These so-called cosmeceuticals are care system products based on multiple, highly-effective, efficient active substances and enable the transition between pure beauty and scientifically based skin care. Each cosmeceutical series is based on an active substance concept which is optimally tailored to a specific skin type and achieves both visible and measurable results. Cosmeceuticals do not act exclusively on the surface of the skin but achieve an effect deep down in the skin. The skin's different needs and requirements are specifically targeted, leading to an immediate and long-term improvement in the skin profile.

Our beauty experts will carry out a professional skin analysis and show you which skin type series is the right one for you.
